HARVARD'S MAN OF MYSTERY

Wesley Holland, Harvard's "man of mystery," has all Cambridge puzzled. Neither vault doors, steel boxes nor ice walls have yet been able to hold Holland as a prisoner. He is an electrician at the university and astounded the students when he made his way out of a steel box which they had specially constructed for the demonstration.

Concerning the Sabbath.

According to the Bible the Lord created the world in six days and rested on the seventh. As Saturday is the seventh day of the week, the Jews observe it as the Sabbath, as do certain other denominations following the old Mosiac law. When Christ said: "The old things have passed away; behold, they are become new," His followers regarded this as a command to change the old order, and they made the day of His resurrection the Sabbath.

A Kentucky Woman Runden-Nervous-Weak

Newport, Ky.—"I most heartily recommend Dr. Pierce's remedies for they have surely been of great benefit to me. Several years ago I was run-down and nervous with congestion and a catarrhal condition. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and Lo-tion Tablets cured me of all my weakness and restored me to perfect health and strength. From that time to this I have had no trouble of any description so feel assured that mine was a permanent cure."—MRS. AMANDA E. GEISLER, 913 Columbia St.

ANOTHER TESTIMONY

Louisville, Ky.—"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the very best medicine a woman can take. I suffered for some time with organic weakness and at times I suffered so that I would be compelled to give up and go to bed; my back ached and pains would extend down into my limbs. I would become stiff and numb and was hysterical at times. I was so miserable and nothing seemed to help me until I began taking the 'Favorite Prescription' and this medicine so completely cured me that I have never had the least trouble since. I can recommend it to be the best medicine I have ever taken for the ailments of women."—MRS. E. CASHMAN, 826 Franklin St.

FOR YOUNG MOTHERS

Louisville, Ky.—"I can never thank Dr. Pierce enough for what his medicine has done for me. I had nursing sore mouth and was so weak I could hardly walk. My baby also suffered. I got medicine from our family physician but it did me no good; I grew worse instead of better, so almost in despair I began taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and before I had taken half a bottle I felt like a different woman and when I had finished taking that bottle I was almost well. I believe I would have been in my grave had it not been for this medicine."—MRS. EMMA PEAK, R. R. A., Box 314.

"FIDDLE-FIT"

Keep Liver and Bowels Clean and Active with "Cascarets"

Sick headache, biliousness, coated tongue, sour, gassy stomach—always trace this to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A cascaret tonight will have you feeling clear, rosy and as fit as a fiddle by morning. They work while you sleep.

DON'T YOU FORGET IT

Bear in mind that Chamberlain's Tablets not only move the bowels but improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion. They contain no poison or other digestive ferment but strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally.

No Shoes for Traveling.

A few of my friends and I went to a station nearby to camp and pick blueberries. On the first day, while traveling through some swamp land our feet became wet. That night I built a fire and placed my shoes and socks on a log near the fire, intending to watch them until they dried. I fell asleep and my footwear burned. The next day I went home on the train barefooted, to the amusement of all the passengers.—Chicago Tribune.

You Can't Cure Rheumatism With Liniments and Lotions

If you are afflicted with Rheumatism, why waste time with liniments, lotions and other local applications that never did cure Rheumatism, and never will? Do not try to rub the pain away, for you never will succeed. Try the sensible plan of finding the cause of the pain. Remove the cause, and there can be no pain. You will never be rid of Rheumatism until you cleanse your blood of the germs that cause the disease. S. S. S. has no equal as a blood cleanser, scores of sufferers say that it has cleansed their blood of Rheumatism and removed all trace of the disease from their system.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. at your drug store and get on the right treatment to-day. If you want special medical advice, address Medical Director, 49 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

Unusual Methods Used.

With the end of the war have come many revelations of the unusual methods used by the Germans to spread their harmful propaganda in the countries arrayed against the central powers, and of the clever work which often frustrated their well-laid plans. In one case, mentioned in Popular Mechanics Magazine, what appeared to be an old and worn copy of the works of Homer proved to be a volume of attacks on British rule in India. Only the first few pages of the book were printed with the words of the ancient poet. The remainder, though in Greek type like the beginning, was filled with the diatribe. The volume was addressed to an educated Hindu capable of translating the Greek into an Indian dialect.

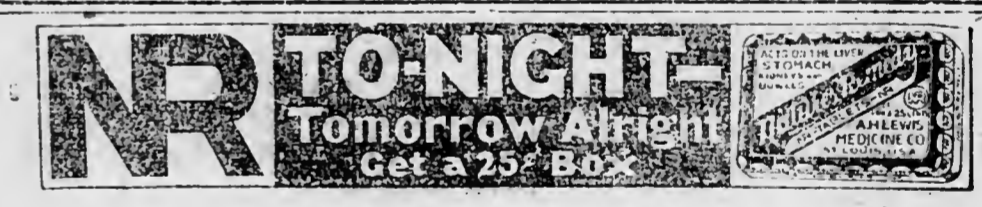

Costly Parking Space.

Tired of being taken into court by traffic policemen, because at the time he goes to business his car has to be parked in the street, as day storage is at a premium and access to a public garage at those hours is difficult, Philip Rosenbach, art connoisseur of Philadelphia, has just paid $16,000 for a stable property which he will convert into a private garage for himself. It is near his place of business.

THE BEST COUGH MEDICINE

When a druggist finds that his customers all speak well of a certain preparation, he forms a good opinion of it and when in need of such a medicine is almost certain to use it himself and in his family. This is why so many druggists use and recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. J. B. Jones, a well known druggist of Capurn, Ky., says, "I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in my family for the best cough medicine I have ever known."

URGES HARDWARE MEN TO ADVERTISE

Manager McSweeney and T. H. Collins, of the Richmond Welch Company and Messrs J. H. and Cecil Oldham attended the convention of the Kentucky Hardware and Implement Dealers' Association at Louisville this week. According to most of those in attendance a big feature of the convention with an address by J. M. Campbell, of Bowling Green, Mo., president of the national association. Mr. Campbell gave the members many valuable suggestions and urged upon them the necessity of continuous newspaper advertising.

"Merchandising is a science and should be studied like law, medicine, art, music," declared Mr. Campbell. According to the speaker the study of trade possibilities is a most important factor, and knowledge of the population, industry and wealth of a community must be acquired.

To be an intense merchant, a thorough understanding of the various articles should be had, including the manufacturing process, investigation of prices, knowledge as to whether the price paid for the merchandise at home and abroad can be met, then keep in touch with your customers," he said.

Mr. Campbell advocated a plan similar to the house budget system, and advised that each merchant keep a list of and communicate with his customers as well as investigate the circles and catalogues that come into the office.

He said that every article placed in the window of a store should be accompanied by the price and that the articles advertised in the newspapers should be placed in the window the same day thus creating greater interest.

Ability, reliability, progressiveness, leadership, store spirit, community spirit are qualities required to be an intense merchant. Mr. Campbell said, "No great business can be built up without imagination," he added, calling attention to the famous merchants who control American trade.

In conclusion the speaker said that the rating of the hardware merchant is the highest of an retail merchant in the country.

GO-TO-SUNDAY-SCHOOL DAY WILL BE OBSERVED MAY 2.

In order to insure the success of the movement the Kentucky State Sunday-school Association is planning to begin at once the campaign for the observance of "Kentucky Go-to-Sunday-school Day" on the first Sunday in May. Observance of such a day was inaugurated for the first time in 1890. Several years ago and has been more and more successful each year until now the plan has been adopted by many other states.

Objects of the campaign this year, as in past years, will be to increase the Sunday-school membership by enlisting officers, teachers and pupils in a systematic campaign for new pupils to give greater publicity to the Sunday school work in the state; to obtain May 2, 1920, the largest Sunday school attendance in the history of the State.

Each county is to have its own special committee for the campaign headed by the county superintendent of administration, or by some worker appointed by the superintendent. This committee will be under direction of the State Association and will organize local committees in every community and these will in turn organize committees in every congregation.

Making a Start In Bringing Down the Cost of Living

Many theories have been advanced as remedies for the economic problems facing this country today. These theories cover much ground—make much ado—yet invariably they lead to the same basic conclusion that the solution is in increased production and decreased consumption.

With foreign nations actually requiring large quantities of merchandise and raw materials of every description, the domestic supply is naturally limited—the demand as great as ever—and price consequently high. Since we must help supply Europe's necessities until her nations produce, the only solution of our high cost of living problem is in increased production and decreased consumption.

The Federal Reserve Board, the governing financial body of this country, has tersely summarized what is necessary in the phrase "Work and Save." Briefly what we must do is:

Human effort applied to the production of goods must make up for the wastage of the past five years.

Every individual must realize that if the cost of living is to be reduced, each day's production must be the greatest possible.

Everyone, regardless of station in life, must be a worker and producer. Every worker must be on the job every possible day—doing his or her level best. They must feel when quitting time comes that they have not only put in a full day—but done a full day's work.

Every individual must think out this idea for himself, and get the facts firmly implanted in his mind. When this is done, the job of bringing down the cost of living will have begun.

It means genuine hard work—it is almost as big a problem as winning the war. The sooner we get it, the sooner it's done.

Save--

Every man, woman and child should stop spending money for things which do not contribute to their health or comfort.

A "save" program must be instituted instead of the "spend and speculate" fever which has seized the public. Decreased consumption brought about by saving will aid them to meet the present cost of living—and help reduce it.

The buying of things not needed means a waste of materials. It cuts down supply and forces prices up.

Every factory, office and home must see to it that waste stops. No one exempt.

Begin today and actually save. Make it practical saving. Do not eliminate things you need. Chop off the things you do not need and will not really miss. If this program is generally followed the cost of living will start down.

The most practical men in the country have reached the conclusion that human effort to produce more and to save more is the only solution to this perplexing problem. It is based on fundamental facts and economic laws.

The results of your efforts to reduce the cost of living should be noticeable. The money you do not spend should be placed in the bank, so you will have something definite to show your efforts. Start today—and remember that a full day's work and the spending of no more money than is necessary, is the successful application of the "Work and Save" idea.

ONLY SIX STORMS AS SEVERE AS IN 50 YEARS

During the past fifty years there have been but six sleet storms approximating or surpassing the severity of that of the past week, according to H. F. Hillenmeyer, Fayette county's farmer-horticulturist-nurseryman-weather observer.

In January, 1874, he said, there was more wreckage in the woodlands than there has ever been since. On March 5, 1884, there began a five-day storm, inflicting great injury and just two months before the fruit crop had been entirely swept away. It was the intensity of that day that practically wiped out the white walnut from our woodlands, Mr. Hillenmeyer said, and laid the foundation for the decadence of the hickory and pignut.

"On Christmas morning, 1890," said Mr. Hillenmeyer, "the grandest natural spectacle that ever greeted human eyes glorified the earth. During the night 2.13 inches of rain and sleet had fallen, the temperature had dropped sharply, the clouds disappeared and the undimmed sun reflected from myriad prisms of purest ray, created a scene of beauty possible only to the infinite.

"January 27, 28 and 29, 1902, more than three inches of rain or ice fell. Prior to this time there had been no extended use of suspended wire for the transmission of heat, light and intercommunication. This was the first great cataclysm that befell the wire interests.

"Feb. 18 and 19, 1913, there was a precipitation of but 1.11 inches, but at a temperature that seems to have congealed at once the falling water to the object on which it fell. This was the greatest loss ever sustained by the wire interests, not perhaps because of the greater weight on the individual wire, but because of the increased number of wires sustained by the poles. That this hypothesis is correct is evidenced by the fact that it was not the breaking of the individual wire but of the posts rather that did the damage, and the breaking of the poles uniformly began on the one on which centered a deviation from the general direction of any line. The greatest loss, for a palpable reason, was on roads running north and south.

"The benefits to the general public of these wire utilities are incalculable and its sympathy should be extended and the deprivation of service borne with the utmost patience. The analogies of the past indicate that these visitations may be expected once in ten years, that such service corporations are quite within their right to make provision for losses extraordinary and unpreventable. It is well to bear in mind that if these utilities extend their services their risk will increase in proportion to that expansion.

"The present precipitation has been somewhat over 3.50 inches. It is providential that high winds have never prevailed during such storms, nor is it recalled that severe cold followed them. The break-up is generally with muggy weather, coupled with fog, and the danger of serious suffering by reason of coal shortage is remote."

Barcelona Once Great Seaport

Until 1872 Barcelona was the New York of the Mediterranean. Its position in the northeastern coast of Spain, actually at about the same latitude as New York city, relatively is to the Mediterranean world what the western city is to Atlantic trade routes. Columbus' voyage was considered a bit of impertinence on the part of the Castilian government to upset the balance of trade in favor of cities in western and southern Spain.

Lame ever morning, achy and stiff all day, worse when it's dam or chilly? Suspect your kidneys and try the remedy your neighbors use.

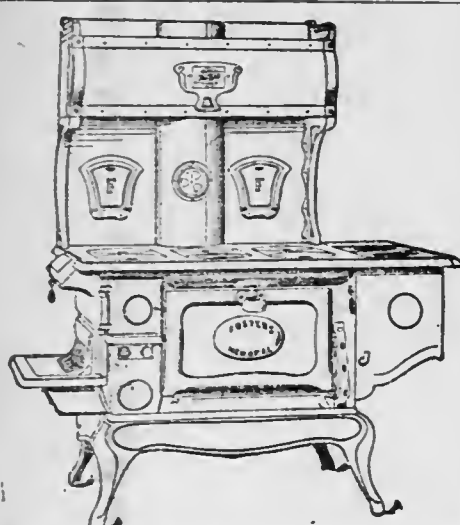

Mrs. Carrie Long, 35 Fifth st., Richmond, says: "A few years ago I was down with kidney trouble, and for two months I couldn't straighten my back or turn in bed. I was helpless, and every time I moved the pains were so severe that I would scream. My limbs and joints were swollen and stiff. I had a dizzy swimming sensation in my head and objects seemed to float before my eyes. My kidneys were weak and caused me distress. I tried all sorts of remedies but with no relief. Finally I took Doan's Kidney Pills and they soon cured me of every sign of the trouble. I was able to do my work and my back was well and strong."

COLLEGE HILL MAN LOSES AGED MOTHER

Mr. William Mellon, of the College Hill section, has the sympathy of many friends in the death of his aged mother, Mrs.
Wm. Webber, which occurred at her home in Kirkwood, California. The Times of that city had the following notice of her demise:

Mrs. Louisa Webber passed away at her home in Kirkwood, California Sunday afternoon at the advanced age of 84 years.
Mrs. Webber was the daughter of Hamilton and Eliza Norris, of College Hill, Kentucky. She was first married to Ezekiel Mellon and to this union were born six children, five of whom survive:
two sons, William and Hamilton, of Kentucky, Walter Mellon, of Kirkwood; two daughters, Mrs.
Adie McCray and Mrs. Nanette McCray, of San Francisco. After Mr. Mellon's death, she was united in marriage to Philip Webber. They moved to Tehama county, California in 1875. To this union five children were born, four of whom are living; Belmont, Norris, Albert and Ellen Webber, of Kirkwood. Besides her children she is survived by two sisters, Mrs. M. B. Hill and Mrs. Talt Willoughby, of College Hill. About 30 years ago she suffered a stroke of paralysis from which she never fully recovered. She was a life long Christian, earnest Bible student and always took a firm stand on the side of temperance and Sabbath observance. The funeral was held at the home Tuesday afternoon and interment was in Kirkwood cemetery.

Our Country's Motto.

"E Pluribus Unum" was first suggested as the motto of the United States by Benjamin Franklin, John Adams and Thomas Jefferson, in August, 1776, they having been appointed a committee to choose a design for the great seal. It is claimed by some that the motto was suggested by a similar inscription used by the Gentleman's Magazine, a popular publication of that time. It first appeared on coins in New Jersey in 1783, when copper money was issued by that state.

Build Up—Your Blood With Pepto-Mangan

If it is true you are not feeling your best—if you have that "al-should be careful of the influenza.

It is thin-blooded, anemic people that disease strikes first. The fact that you have had very few serious illnesses has nothing to do with it. Everyone gets rundown occasionally, and when they do, the blood is in no condition to fight off disease germs, because it has not enough red corpuscles. It is the red corpuscles of the blood that fight disease and save you from sickness.

You simply can't afford to take chances when influenza is striking down thousands everywhere.
Fortify your blood—build it up with the pleasant tonic, Pepto-Mangan

And should you be just recovering from influenza, you need Pepto-Mangan because your blood has exhausted its strength.
Pepto-Mangan will help build you up.

Pepto-Mangan is widely and heartily endorsed by physicians.
It is effective and easy to take.
Comes in either liquid or tablet form. No difference in medicinal properties.

Sold at any drug store. But be sure you get the genuine Pepto-

In the Protozoa, as Welsmann and others have pointed out, the reperipany, by its charter, charged and collected tolls of the public for the use of the bridge as authorized by that charter, and year by year paid to the Commonwealth of Kentucky and counties of Fayette and Madison all taxes assessed against the property, including each year a tax upon its franchise.

In legal effect the injunction granted by the Circuit Court as completely deprives the defendant of its property, as if a forfeiture of its charter had been adjudged; for of what value to the defendant would be the bridge or its approaches without the right to charge and collect tolls for their use by the public? And how could a purchaser be found for the property, when its purchase would not invest him with the right to collect tolls for its use? Moreover the market value of the material in the bridge and of the ground at either end constituting the approaches, would be insignificant when compared with the loss resulting to defendant from the deprivation of its right to the tolls it has been accustomed to receive for the use of the bridge.

It is not meant that the conditions resulting from the granting of the injunction referred to will necessarily compel its dissolution, but as these conditions indicate the gravity of the situation in which the granting of the injunction has placed the defendant and give emphasis to the importance of the rights involved, they should be considered in passing on its motion to dissolve the injunction. Laying aside other questions raised by the defendant, consideration will first be given the really vital question in the case. Whether the defendant had the right to charge and collect the tolls, the collection of which is enjoined herein?

The written opinion of the learned Judge who granted the injunction declares it did not have such right; the reason given for the conclusion being that the act of 1898, provided for franchises to be granted by the Commonwealth of Kentucky and those of the charter of the Richmond and Lexington Turnpike Company as authorized it to transfer its property and franchises to "assigns"; because of which only the county could purchase the property and franchises of a turnpike company. The soundness or unsoundness of this conclusion must be tested by the provisions of section 5 of the charter of the Richmond and Lexington Turnpike Company and those of Section 562, Kentucky Statutes. After declaring the turnpike company a body politic and incorporated and giving it corporate name, section 5 of the charter provides:

"And by the said name, the said subscribers shall have perpetual succession, and all the privileges and franchises incident to a corporation, and shall be capable of taking and holding the said capital stock and the increase and profits thereof, and of purchasing, taking and holding to them and their successors and assigns, and of selling, transferring and conveying in fee simple, all such lands, tenements and hereditaments and estate, real or personal, as shall be necessary to them in the prosecution of their works; and being sued, impleaded and being answered, defending and being defended, in courts of record, or any other place whatsoever; and also to make, have and use a common seal and the same to break, alter and renew at pleasure. To make such rules, bylaws and regulations, not inconsistent with the laws of the Constitution of the United States and of this state, as shall be necessary for the well-ordering the affairs of said company, and to do all and every other matter or thing which, a corporation or body politic might lawfully do."

Conceding the necessity of statutory authority for a sale by the turnpike company of its bridge and corporate franchise in question, as contended by plaintiffs, it will be observed that the language of the section, supra, is sufficiently comprehensive to confer upon the turnpike company the power of purchasing, taking and holding to them and their successors and assigns, and of selling, transferring and conveying in fee simple, all such lands, tenements and hereditaments and estate, real or personal, as shall be necessary to them in the prosecution of their works. Obviously, it cannot be claimed that the powers thus given the turnpike company were not broad enough to authorize the sale and conveyance by it to defendant of the Clays Ferry Bridge and appurtenances including the right to charge tolls for its use. The right to charge and collect the bridge tolls sold and conveyed defendant by the turnpike company, was conferred on the latter by section 5 of the Act of 1898, amendatory of its charter, and is not here disputed.

If other authority for the defendant's purchase of the bridge and right to bridge tolls than that contained in section 5 of the turnpike company's Charter be desired, it may be found in section 562, Ky. Statutes, which provides:

"If the franchise and property of any corporation is sold, the persons who may become the purchaser, at private sale or under the judgment of the court, may organize a corporation for the construction, operation and management of the same; and such corporation, when organized shall have the same rights, privileges and franchises as have been granted to or acquired by the corporation purchased; and shall be subject to all the limitations, restrictions and liabilities imposed upon it; and, in addition, thereto, shall be subject to all the provisions of this chapter. Such corporation shall be formed by articles of incorporation executed by the purchaser and assigns, and which shall, in addition to the requirements of section 539 of this article, set forth a description of the property sold, and the degree under which the sale was made, if it was sold under a judgment, or if not, the deed conveying the property, the amount paid, and to and by whom, and such other statements as may be deemed necessary."

It is admitted that the defendant, following the purchase for its benefit of the Clays Ferry Bridge and appurtenances by its promoters, Smith, Moberly and Erskine, was duly incorporated as provided by the section, supra, that its ownership and control of the bridge and appurtenances has been as such corporation, and that it has fulfilled all obligations with respect to the maintenance of the property for the use of the public imposed by law and its charter upon the Richmond and Lexington Turnpike Company, the original owner.

It is not perceived that the provisions of what is known as the Free Turnpike Act confined the right of the Richmond and Lexington Turnpike Company to dispose of the bridge and appurtenances to the counties of Madison and Fayette or either, as held by the Circuit Judge. Section 8 of the Act, now subsection 8, of section 4748, Ky. Statutes provides:

"When the entire turnpike purchased by a fiscal court like wholly within the county by which the same is purchased the transfer of title shall be made as provided in section seven, and thereupon, the charter, franchise, and so forth, of any such turnpike or gravel road shall be at once dissolved and terminated, but when any portion of any turnpike, which lies in more than one county, is purchased as hereinafter authorized, the title to such part purchased shall be conveyed to the county purchasing it in the manner before recited, and such transfer shall in no wise affect the charter or privileges or franchises of any turnpike road company so selling such portion, as to the remainder of the turnpike of such company. But as to the part so sold the charter shall be and become terminated, and the company shall be at once released from any and all responsibility concerning such portion under its charter or the laws of the state."

It is patent from the language of this Statute that a sale of a turnpike, other appurtenant corporate property or franchises of the company owning it, may be made in fragments. In other words, by its provisions the county may purchase or acquire by condemnation proceedings any part of a turnpike lying in its limits, and by its further provisions the part not purchased remains the property of the turnpike company, to hold or assign or sell to a purchaser of its selection other than the county. The Clays Ferry Bridge and approaches, although essential to the use of the turnpike and in that sense parts of it, were not purchased by the counties of Madison or Fayette or acquired by condemnation proceedings, but retained by the turnpike company, which had the right to continue to operate them or sell the same to the defendant to collect tolls for the use by the public of the bridge; and manifestly, of the right to charge and collect tolls for the use of the bridge exists, the public can have no interest in whether it is exercised by the original owner of the property or the defendant.

As insisted for defendant, the bridge would be mere "junk" without the right to the owner to charge and collect tolls for its use by the traveling public, and such right is a franchise valuable as property and can be assigned or sold. If, as has been repeatedly held in this jurisdiction, a ferry right is a franchise which can be assigned or sold the same is true of a franchise to operate a toll bridge. Dufour vs. Stacey, 90 Ky., 2888; Willis vs. Calhoun, 145 Ky., 1063; Trustees of Mayville vs. Boone, 2 J. J. Mar., 227.

In Louisville vs. Cumberland T. & C. Co., 224 U. S. 649, it was held that the city of Louisville could not interfere with the right of the Cumberland Telephone Company to exercise a franchise which had been granted by the city to the Ohio Valley Telephone Company and sold by the latter company to the Cumberland Company; the opinion, among other things, declaring that whether such a franchise be called an incorporeal hereditament, an interest in land, an easement, or right of way, it is property and "being property, it was taxable, alienable and transferable; and, as property, passed to the Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph Company under the express provision of the Kentucky Statutes (Section 562), which as of force in 1900 declared that the consolidating company should be vested with all the property, business assets, and affects of the constituent companies, without deed or transfer, and bound for all their contracts and liabilities."

The authorities cited seem to be conclusive of the question under consideration, and, if so, it follows that the injunction issued in this case should not have been granted. Therefore the motion of the defendant to dissolve it is sustained and the injunction dissolved.

The cases of Breathitt Co. vs. Hammonds, 150 Ky. 502, and city of Pineville vs. Pineville Bridge Co., 179 Ky. 375, relied on by plaintiffs, are not in point, as in neither case did the bridge company have statutory authority or a corporate franchise to operate a bridge or charge tolls for its use. The conclusion arrived at upon the main question considered, rendered unnecessary the decision of other questions raised by the defendant in the case. Chief Justice Carroll and Judge Thomas sat with me in vacation in the consideration of the motion and both concur in the conclusions expressed in the opinion. The other Judges of the Court of Appeals were absent when the motion was passed on, but Judges Hurt and Sampson having heard the opinion read, also concur therein.

To Investigate Jackson Case

Dispatches from Frankfort said this week that Governor Morrow has designated Commonwealth's Attorney Godfrey Rader of Danville, to investigate the charges made by Hamilton county, Ohio officials that Sheriff William Baker, of Jackson county, Ohio, was involved in the escape of Kimmer Baker, wanted in Ohio for murder. Kimmer Baker is said to be a son of a deputy sheriff. Attorney Rader mentioned, however, is not from Danville, Boyle county, as the dispatches have stated; at least he is not Commonwealth's Attorney there as the dispatches declared.

COURT OF APPEALS' BRIDGE DECISION

terests thus purchased by them, respectively, in the turnpike. By the terms of both these deeds, however, the bridge at Clays Ferry and the approach thereto on each side of the river, including the ferry landing on each side and amounting altogether to about 3 1/2 acres, were expressly excluded from the sales and conveyances made of the turnpike to Fayette and Madison counties, respectively, and the title thereto retained by the turnpike company, which continued its ownership of same, operation of the bridge and the collection of tolls for its use by the traveling public, until January 2nd 1907 when the property, including the bridge, approaches and ferry landing on each side of the river, the franchise and all charter rights of the Richmond and Lexington Turnpike Company, and Lexington Turnpike Company, under the act of the Legislature authorizing it to construct, own and operate the bridge, and collect tolls for its use by the public, was sold by it at public auction to Thomas J. Smith, W. S. Moberly and James Erskine at the price of $4755.00.

The purchasers as authorized by Kentucky Statutes, Section 562, immediately organized a corporation under the corporate name "Clays Ferry Bridge Company", to which their bid for the property in question was assigned, followed by a deed from the Richmond and Lexington Turnpike Company conveying it the legal title thereto, including the franchises and all other corporate rights of the grantor above enumerated.

From that conveyance January 2nd 1907, until the granting of the injunction in this action, the Clays Ferry Bridge Company, defending herein, has owned, maintained and operated the Clays Ferry Bridge, assumed and performed all obligations and duties imposed upon the former owner, Richmond and Lexington Turnpike Company.
